

Homeschool Resources

Everyone
Learns Differently.

Homeschool
Resources

Everyone learns differently! Here are some resources to help you and your student:

Khan Academy is a great resource for homeschooling as well as just a supplementary tutoring tools, click here to visit their website.

TED
Ed

TED Ed is a great resource for all sorts of subjects ranging from social studies to sciences. Some of these courses can be found at other online home click here to visit

Productive Mama is a great resource for other homeschooling resources not listed here. You can also get on zoom meetings with other parents to discuss home school options and ideas. Amylee is a New Mexico resident and has home schooled her kids. She does a great job at explaining options and more., click here to visit her website.

This is the State of New Mexico website for registering your child as a home school student. It will also provide you with the State curriculum requirements so that you can compare it with any home school curriculum you choose and then look for the curriculum gaps and decide what resources you want to use to fill those gaps, click here to visit their website.

The Homes School Legal Defense website has lots of useful information for parents who are interested in homeschooling. Click here to visit their New Mexico site

Girlology was designed to give you medically accurate, in-the-moment support needed to navigate your journey with all the facts and greater confidence. An accessible resource like no other, Girlology helps girls (of all ages) and parents prepare for what's ahead. Click here to visit their site

Educate Station content is created by a team of experienced and passionate educators from across the United States. Our educators bring vast subject-matter expertise, teaching credentials, and many years of experience as classroom teachers and curriculum developers. Through the content we create, we aim to provide ready-to-use, hands-on activities for kids to do at home or at school. The Educate Station team is committed to inspiring joyful learning and supporting kids, teachers, and parents.